

My personal site... Some years ago I couldn't think about it, I couldn't imagine that I would be able to create my own personal site. This word sounded as something fantastic and unreal for me. In the Internet I saw many personal sites last time. Some of them were wonderful, very useful and helped me in my work to prepare for my lessons. I appreciated people, who created such sites. But sometimes I felt a great disappointment. Why do teachers create sites which are absolutely useless, have nothing interesting for lessons? What makes teachers have their own sites? Do I need it? Why? Would my site express my individuality? Such questions and many others came to my mind, did not let me work "as usual". And at last I understood that I am "ready". I want to share my experience to other colleagues. I want not only to see successes of other people but to show results of my work too. That`s why I decided on creating my site. Sometimes it was not easy, I spent many days working without any help. But now I am proud of my site and my only purpose is to be useful for others. But I should say that with my personal site I got not only the opportunity for my creation but a lot of troubles. The first and the main one is shortage of time. But I don`t regret having it.

My personal site ... To have or not to have it? You should decide it yourself.
