

Now, many have realized the need to have a website. For business it has become a fixture of the same as the telephone and business card

For the teacher it's a great exchange of experience and access to diverse information. This is an advantage. You settle for the site, where information is the same as that of an ordinary business card.

A drawback-free sites are the property of other companies, so your site can simply disappear.

For me it is just new knowledge, It's new and at the same time strange. It's a great opportunity to grow in the sphere of computer technologies

And I learned that in the Internet sites regularly appear made in Flash. This is usually entertainment or promotional resources devoted to video games, movies and commercial innovations
