

Personal Site: For and Against.

Nowadays the Internet is getting more and more popular with everybody, especially teenagers. Therefore, it would be silly if the Internet did not use for teaching. English is considered to be the language of the Internet, thus it would be quite understandable if the Internet used for teaching English. One of the way of teaching English through the Internet is the personal site. Let's consider its advantages and disadvantages.

Firstly, personal site can be used for those pupils who can not attend lessons at school. Among them are disabled people or people who live in far villages or areas. Secondly, personal site might be used for motivating those pupils who are not interested in formal studies. These pupils prefer something unusual and teaching through personal site would be much more interesting for them as well. Finally, personal site is a way to share your ideas, methods of teaching with everybody.

However, there are certain number of people who can not appreciate using personal sites. These are older people who can not use new technologies. It is very difficult for them to click the right button or download something. These people are usually very experienced and they can teach without any sites but they understand how interesting these sites for the youth. What is more, Russia is endless country and there are lots of places where there is not access to the Internet. Personal sites are completely useless in such places now, but they might become useful when every person will be able to access the Internet wherever he or she is.

To sum up, personal sites are necessary now and they will be much more necessary in the nearest future.
