Happy Mother's Day!

For my mum

Before a dream you always tell a story

About you, about me, about other glory.

You coddle me in frosty winter time.

For you levity and lie like a crime.

You're like a child, you eat all cakes,

You love cartoons, you hate mistakes.

You run with me to "Pizza's World"

And laugh at jokes that your friend has told.

You wish me happiness, believe in me.

I'll equal all your hopes, you'll see!

You're like the sun, you light my way.

You're like the Earth, you're like this Day.

You make me happy, you've opened my door.

I love you, mum, as nothing more.

Dear Sasha!

How lovely is your poem!

I'm sure that each mother would like to hear such words from their children...

You did it brilliantly!

There is nothing else left for me to do but congratulate you!
