Mother is the word that means for me home

Mother is the word that means for me home,
She is my happiness, my heart and my soul,
I am the part of her blood and her bone,
I know she'll defend me and try to console.

Nobody can take her saint unique place,
You can't find a human like her even in space,
The life without her isn't shiny and bright,
It's like a dark night without a lively light.

Her warm hug makes me happy and strong?
I remember all the names of her favorite songs.
We may fall out over the smallest things
But she is my best friend with her magical wings.

Mum, I love you so tenderly and much.
You're the reason why I am not scared of night,
With you I'll never be alone,
You are the main heartbeat of our home.

It's difficult for me to describe what I fell when I read your poem, because the words and the comparisons are very sincere and sensible. I wish you good luck in this contest
