I just want to tell "thank you so much",
Without further ado You know for what these simple words.
For the happiest of days, that you have given me.
For all the boogieman stories in the night I've never been afraid.
For your assistance in my acts which were so difficult to me,
And friendly suppers through the life with all my loving kin.
You know I'll do my best I can
To make your day just happier than now it is,
And give you everything about you can dream.
The only thing I really need is your belief in me.
