Good Day, My Mum...

Good day, my mum, good day...

I'm your daughter... I'm here again...

I've come to you to talk with you.

I'd like to share my pain with you.

I'm in front of your little hill

A talk with you is like a pill

Not rain, not a man water your grave

My salty, hot tears wet it again.

Your favourite forget-me-nots

I grow on your chest.

Being alive you thanked my stars

To build my own nest.

I saw you in my troubled slumber tonight.

You were so merry, so pretty and bright.

I'm sure you are in the paradise.

Know...it is not for me a surprise.

Your shining eyes and understanding look

Help me in troubles even today.

I mourn the fate which so early took

Without you it's hard to live a day.

Your tender hands and unforgettable "be happy"

Bring lucky to me from the nappy.

I feel you watch me from the heaven

And protect me from all evil.

For a pity, it's time to leave you, mum.

Let your sleep be always calm...

Let your bed be always light...

I miss you, I need you every day and night.

Thank you very much for your attention to my modest poem. It is really so. Although I lost my mother many, many years ago, I still feel a pain in my heart.
