Memory...I see a small grey photo,

My eyes are full of tears...

So young and handsome man!

My great-grandpa is here.

When a terrible war began

It was a dismay day.

As a defender he was killed

And at the end came

His last heroic way.

My great-grandma lived alone

With three small children at home

How difficult was it!

But they waited, waited, waited...

The power to wait was great,

They cursed this war and hated,

But he didn't came back in spring,

This spring brought a heavy parting.

I see an old small piece of paper

It is a simple yellow triangle

It is a terrible funeral letter

I reread it and still cryed.

This small grey photo is so dear

I faste St.George Ribbon here.

It's our truthful story,

It's our pride and glory!
