Do you know what happened that morning?

Do you know what happened that morning?

Do you remember the flash of the light?

And the clouds from skyline were falling..

Throw the days and the nights

Endless fight

Which was carried by the soldiers

By heroes, by the strong and brave officers

Your grandparents were fighting for life their duds

And because of them you are alive

They remembered the flashes of the lights

And now you should say them "thanks"

The flowers are growing near the eternal fire

The heroes are need in rest and should go retire
