Silence...

Suddenly came cruel war,

The people were not even warned.

They had to work and gather corn,

The war came like a thunderstorm.

His wife stayed there all alone,

Her heart became like big black stone.

She doesn't cry, she only hopes,

That husband unharmed returns.

There were a lot of heroes among them,

They died so young and have not enjoyed their lifes.

Their deads remains in our hearts forever,

We don't forget them, never!

Never!
